Griffs Land Overtime Game When Williams Makes Wild Heave---Racing

Eighteen-Inning Battle

C. Williams' Wild Heave Paves Way for Griffmen to Beat White Sox.

Florida avenue stadium became the "land of the midnight sun" yesterday afternoon when Griff's Nationals handed a setback to the world cham-pion White Sox in an eighteen-inning combat by a 1-to-0 count.

It was a pitchers' duel all the way.

King Pin Walter Johnson working the entire route for the Nationals, while Claude Williams, of southpaw in-and-out fame, did the duties for the White Sox. Claude has no one to blame for this over-time defeat but his "wee little self" as his wild heave in the eighteenth gave the Griffmen their lonesome tally and sent to a very late supper some 4000 Starting these ball games at 4:30 is all good and proper, but when they ask local fandom to sit through two real pitching battles it is more than is desired as many "wayouts" jumped into one-armed lunch rooms to overcome the starvation period caused by Umpire-in-Chief Hildebrand, in work-ing this game through the "midnight Outside of Williams' wild heave, which paved the way for the locals. Walter Johnson and Eddie Ainsmith are credited with timely clouts which put the Nationals in the running. It appened in the eighteenth after Foster had popped out. Ainsmith singled to center and moved all the way to the far corner when Johnny Collins delayed a few seconds in recovering Johnson's clout in the same territory. The Nationals' rooters appealed to Bert Shotton to deliver and because of being over-anxious this speedy outfielder allowed a hook ball to pass over. He fouled off the next and things looked dreary for local fan-dom, but Claude Williams made the next issue a gift by heaving a curved ball to the grand stand which placed

Many opportunities were presented to both teams to push tallies through but emergency air-tight pitching clamped down the lid. Johnson's credit for nine strikeouts is not anything remarkable, as Claude Williams fell victim on five occasions, and Rishery twice. Sensational fielding by Lavan, Judge and Shanks at different times saved the day for the locals, while the champion White Sox out-field was compelled to work overtime in tearing down twenty-three clouts in their directions.

ith over the dish with the de irections, Williams, although wildclaude williams, although wildpitching himself out of this overtime battle, demonstrated that he has more in his southpaw slant than the ordinary heaver, as he forced the Nationals to pop up for six straight innings and not until the seventh did the Griffmen ground one to the inner works, this comes from the bat of Johnny Layan Milan typesdiately Johnny Lavan. Milan immediately followed with a single to center. Hopes of no-hit fame slightly rattled the southpaw twirler, as he issued free transportation to Howard but Joe Judge's effort was a fly to Collins.

Morgan was hit in the ribs in the next session and moved along by Fos-ter's blow to right, but Ainsmith's attempt to sacrifice resulted in a force-out of Ray at the far corner. Hopes were past when Johnson and Lavan skyed the ball. The Nationals did not have another chance until the twelfth, when two men were down and Judge singled over second and Morgan drew a free pass, but Foster was not there with the pinch

In the first session the White Sox proved a worry to the Kansas Cy-clone, as Murphy's hit and Lavan's error of Weaver's infield out made them look very much alive, but a fast double play by Lieut. Johnny killed off the going.

MAY HOLD MATCH RACE. The conditions of the Preakness The conditions of the Freakness provided that the winners of the race decide among themselves who was to retain the historic Wood-lawn vase. Three ways were dis-lawn vase. Three ways were discussed as to its disposition: Winters to toss a coin for it; agree to race for it this fall, or agree to race for it Friday, the closing day of the meeting.

As both the owners will not ship their horses immediately to Ja-maica, it is possible that the Jockey Club will arrange a match race for War Cloud and Jack Hare, Jr., on Friday. Such a race would mark another epoch in Maryland turf nistory.

War Cloud, A. K. Macomber's prize three-year-old, captured the first division of the Preakness Stake at Pimlico yesterday. Jack Hare Jr., made a run-away affair of the second division and won easily.
War Cloud was favored at the break, and Jockey Johnny Loftus got his mount away from the post in fine style. George Starr went on the rail with Flags racing him hard at the first turn but War Cloud was racing easily in third position.
At the turn in the back stretch the pace began to tell on George Starr and Flags and both dropped Starr and Flags and both dropped back giving way to War Cloud.

After getting into the stretch Loftus took his mount to the front and drew him away for a safe distance and let him down. Sunny Slope came with a rush about sixty yards from the finish and Loftus had to resort to the whip. His mount, however, answered gamely to the beating and won going away. Sunny Slope went into second position with Lanius, the favorite, who came from behind in time to get the place. War Cloud stepped the distance in 1:53 2-5, and proved that he would have shown better in the Kentucky Derby had the track been to his liking.

In the second division although it did not call to the post the high class horses as did the first division, the patrons were given a run for their money when Jack Hare, Jr., grabbed the decision.

The race was Jack Hare, Jr.'s from the break, when he got off to a good lead and drew away from his field for the entire distance. The Porter eader, Troms la Mort, an imported colt by Verwood-Marsa, was the contender for a mile, but could not stand the pace and soon tired and began to drop out of the running. Jack Hare, after once getting in the stretch, took things easy and won as he pleased. The Porter holding to second position the entire distance, came in for the place with Kate Bright third, Officials at the track estimated that Officials at the track estimated that more than 5,000 persons turned out to witness the turf classic of Maryland. An hour before the first race was scheduled to be run every seat in the grand stand was taken and an endless procession of people filed in to the track.

SUNDAY TICKETS ON SALE.

Thousands of soldiers from the various posts in this vicinity will take advantage of the Sabbath base ball attraction at the Fioride avenue ball park on Sunday afternoon, when the Nationals will, no doubt, meet the New York Yankees. Tickets have been put on sale by the local management for this Sunday game at the downtown office. These pasteboards will be sold at A. G. Spaulding's until Saturday at noon when they can be purchased at the Florida Avenue Radium. The Sunday game will be called at 3:36 instead of 3:00. Thousands of soldiers from the Ten to twenty thousand young men, most of them without friends in Washington, will be at liberty on Sunday afternoons during this coming summer. That they can be afforded come clean healthy opportunity of amusement upon Sunday afternoon is highly necessary.

The talk is of the boys in khaki, forest green, and blue. Baseball offers them the best means at hand. The District Commissioners and the Washington Baseball Club sure made a brilliant patriotic move, when Sunday baseball was legalized for the soldiers, sailors and marines, who will be in our midst as long as Kaiser Bill insists on be-ing king of the world.

This year of the Lord 1918 should be a highly desirable time for all to make sacrifices as the principle of Sunday baseball may not ring true to the ears of a few local inhabitants, but it is a recreation that is clean, and the principles of the game are for the good of the nation, especially its fighting forces. The beau. ing king of the world.

This year of the Lord 1918 should boys who are traing in Washington boys who are traing in washington and the vincinity, to go over sea, are making a rather important sacrifice themselves. They are offering their lives if they are needed, and why should not all Americans, who are real Americans, give these boys opportunities to enjoy them-selves in the clean national pas-time, while on their forty-eight-hour leave.

JUDGE PROVES GAME.

Local fans emitted a big sigh relief when Joe Judge stood on his feet and bravely faced the ordeal of the 18-inning battle at Ameri-

of the 18-inning battle at American League ball park yesterday, after he was submarined by an attack of Buck Weaver. This happened in the first inning when fandom figured that Joe Judge had once again broken his leg.

Murphy had beat out an infield hit and Weaver grounded to Lavan. Johnny's throw was a little delayed and Judge was compelled to stretch. Although Lavan's throw beat Waver to the bag he tore Judge off the bag when their spikes and legs became mixed. Judge laid on the sand and rolled around for a few seconds. His team mates rushed to him and the trainer, Mike Martin, with his team mates rushed to him and the trainer, Mike Martin, with his first aid oils and advice placed him once more in a position to do him-self justice. Under this handicap of injury Judge gave a wonderful account of himself in this over-
